MUCH TALK AT CITY MEETING.

Further Offing Side Tracked for the Present Year—$5,000 Appropriated for Smallpox.
 The special city meeting was called to order in the town hall Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mayor D. P. Dunn, with about 40 citizens present. After City Clerk Scripture had read the warning, that called for action on a clause to appropriate $2,000 for the oiling of streets, one for the appropriation of $5,000 additional for the contingent fund to take care of the expenses incident to the smallpox epidemic, Corporation Counsel William A. King offered the following resolution: "That the city of Willimantic, in legal meeting assembled, hereby appropriates and authorizes the common council to appropriate the sum of two thousand ($2,000) for the purpose of oiling the streets of said city; said work to be done as soon as possible."

Lyman Maine, Jr., moved that no action be taken on the first clause in the warning. The motion was seconded.

Another Good Story Goes Wrong.

A story gained circulation in town that a coffin containing the bones of a human being had been found under an old building in Danville. The coffin was found, all right, but the bones that were discovered nearby proved to be those of some long since deceased person that came here to make deliveries in the vicinity.

SHOWED A PUGNACIOUS DISPOSITION.

James Harris, ex-Comedian, Hurled Rocks Promiscuously—Had Razor Too.

James Harris, colored, was sent to the Friday morning from the town court to serve 90 days—$5 for assault, $5 for carrying concealed weapons. Harris is a legacy to Danielson from the Horton Coon in Dixie company, which played here and in surrounding towns for more than a week in the spring. "Little Phoebe" was the chief for the outfit, as he has been the goat for the boys about town since he lost his job in the theatrical Pullman. The boys have given him and "rough house" him.

Somebody stoned him Thursday night, so he says, and he has a cut on the head as evidence of his claim, and he started to leave some rocks on his own account. One of these he Walter Chase, an innocent bystander, who happened to be over near the Walter
